

War Dead Honored in Remembrance Services

The Remembrance Day service in Kiefer's hall on the morning of November 11 was largely attended. The Irma Legion was well represented and the United church ladies' choir assisted by members of the CGIT and some volunteer male singers contributed some special musical numbers.

The Rev. H. W. Inglis gave a splendid address bringing out the thought that through faith in Christ the future belongs to the righteous.

During the service a plaque was brought in and placed with the memorial wreath. This plaque was in memory of F.O. Cyril Jones and had arrived a day too late for the memorial service held in his memory in the Albert school on November 10.

After the service the Legion banquet was held in the Lodge hall. The Irma W.V. very ably catered to this enjoyable event.

One of the high lights of the banquet was the surprise presentation of a birthday cake to Mr. J. A. Hedley. Mr. Hedley is a veteran of World War I and claims November 11 as his natal day. The Legion dance was well attended.

The sale of poppies brought in about $35 for disabled veterans while the collection from the church services amounted to $29 and will be forwarded to the special T.B. Vets Fund.

MAILING DEADLINES SET FOR CHRISTMAS SEASON

Deadlines for Christmas mail, letters and parcels are announced under authority of the Hon. Ernest Betrand, postmaster general. It is pointed out that the post-office has made possible the sending of heavier parcels to friends and relatives in Great Britain and for continuation of reduced rates for armed services still overseas.

The following are the deadlines: Nov. 18—the continent—letters and parcels.

Nov. 25—the United Kingdom—parcels.

Dec. 2—the United Kingdom—letters.

Gift parcels may now be mailed up to 20 pounds weight, to individuals in the United Kingdom, but must be clearly marked "gift parcel."

There is no longer restrictions on the quantity or of food in general which may be sent in such a gift parcel up to 20 pounds. These are no longer restricted to one a month. The articles themselves are still subject to British customs regulations and purchase tax.

The total value of the contents of parcels sent either to the United Kingdom or other countries without an export permit must not exceed $25.

The usual customs declaration forms, by the sender, are necessary.

The 11-pound weight limit at the 12 cents per pound low rate still applies to parcels for armed service personnel.

The post office urges all mailers to pack parcels firmly in strong corrugated containers, wrapped in several folds of thick wrapping paper and securely tied with strong twine. Parcels may be sewn in strong cotton fabric or canvas for greater security. Only articles suitable for mailing should be enclosed. See that all mail is fully prepaid, correctly and clearly addressed, and that a return address is given on the parcel and on a slip placed inside.

A partial list of countries to which parcels may be sent at flat 15 and 20 pound rates includes Belgium, China, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Finland, France, Holland, Hungary, Italy, Norway, Poland, Sweden, Switzerland, Yugoslavia.

THE AGRICULTURAL SERVICE BOARD, ITS AIMS AND POLICIES

As very few people actually know what the Service Board is and why it was formed, I would like in the following article to give some information on it.

Losses directly due to weeds are enormous. Infestations are on the increase from coast to coast and losses are accordingly increasing. To fight weeds effectively every farmer must know the different varieties and their habits before suitable tillage and cropping plans can be worked out. To achieve this end by assisting the farmer, the Service Board was formed.

Mr. O. S. Longman, our deputy minister of agriculture, was the first to propose the Agricultural Service Board. Through his work as fields crops commissioner, he was convinced that the system of weed inspections followed by the municipalities was not getting results, and that municipal councils were not as concerned about the weeds problem as they should be, so he suggested the setting up of these boards as a way to meet all these problems.

The municipal district of Wainwright board consists of five members, two of which are members of the council: P. T. Smale of Heath, chairman, and Ashton Golding of Fabyan. The two ratepayers are Edwin Sanders of Irma, and Emil Nysetvold of Chauvin.

The fifth member, an officer of the department of agriculture, is J. Stuart Robblee, district agriculturist from Wainwright. Chas. Wilhelmsen, secretary-treasurer, is at Secretary, and F. W. Maddex as field supervisor.

The duties of the board shall be:

(1) To advise and assist the council in matters of mutual concern.

(2) To advise with respect to the organizing and directing of the weed control and soil and water conservation programs.

(3) To advise with respect to and to assist in the proper land utilization with a view to improving the economical welfare of the farmer.

(4) To promote and develop any agricultural policies to meet the needs of the municipal district.

In other parts of the province where agricultural service boards have been functioning for two or three years, great progress has been made in weed eradication. Farmers are becoming weed conscious and by following suggested crop rotations and proper methods for weed eradication are gradually getting the best of the weeds.

Due to the late start the board and fall months were spent taking a general survey of the municipal district, to locate the worst infestations of noxious weeds, and establish a means of eradication of the four bad weeds: honey cress, leafy spurge, Russian knapweed and bindweed, also toad flax.

We would be only too glad to receive any suggestions from farmers on weed eradication methods they found successful or how we may do a better job to make this a better area.

Savings Bonds Still Available

Ottawa, November 4—The minister of finance has decided that Canada Savings Bonds shall not be withdrawn immediately, but shall remain available to purchasers until further notice. The decision will be of particular interest in agricultural areas of Canada, where income is seasonal and where many farmers will want to make their investment later in the year. Workers in other fields whose income varies periodically will also find benefit in the new plan.

As Finance Minister J. L. Isley made public his decision, the cumulative total had reached $257,947,600 from 670,691 applications. Since then this total has increased to a point well beyond the expectations at national headquarters when the bonds first went on sale.

The bonds will continue to be available through authorized investment dealers, stock brokers and trust or loan companies, and through banks.

A Growing Nation

DURING THE WAR MUCH WAS HEARD of Canada's growing status among the other nations of the world. The great amount of energy and ability which was put into the war effort was responsible, in part at least, for this rapid rise to a foremost place in world affairs, for it was recognized that Canada's contribution to the Allied cause in both men and resources was far in excess of what might have been expected of a nation with such a relatively small population. The same qualities which made possible this outstanding achievement still exist in Canada today and it is the responsibility of the people to see that the country continues to progress in peace as it did during the war.

A Distinctive Canadian Type

The subject of Canada's growing importance as a nation has been referred to by the Right Hon. Vincent Massey, C.H., P.C., who has recently returned from London, after serving for some years, including the duration of the war, as Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain. Mr. Massey has told of the increase of Canada's prestige in Britain, and of the admiration felt there for Canada and the Canadian people. Much of this he has attributed to the contribution made by this country to the winning of the war, but Mr. Massey has also expressed the opinion that out of the war has come a distinctive Canadian type, an increasing awareness of Canadian nationhood, and a developing unity which he said could be termed "an intricate domestic pattern in a complicated country."

Faith Alone Is Not Sufficient

Mr. Massey has also told the Canadian people that he has great faith in the future of this country, but he has warned that faith alone is not sufficient to solve our difficulties "although they will not be solved without it." It is timely that we should be reminded of the need to look to the future and to continue to work for the development of the country both through faith and through action. At present we are faced with a number of difficult problems including labour unrest, housing, immigration and others. Many of the situations which have arisen were not anticipated during the war, and Canada today is not as most of her people hoped it would be in the second year of peace. We have, however, much to lose if we do not unite and solve the problems of peace as we did those of the war, and look forward at all times to developing to the utmost the great possibilities of the country in which we live.

Still A Mystery

British Research Workers Have Studied Grass Disease For 50 Years

British veterinarians are about to try again to solve the mysteries of "grass disease" which has baffled research workers for almost 50 years. The disease, which appeared in Scotland just after the South African War, is quickly fatal in most cases. Incidence is highest among young animals and those which recover are of little working value.

For 40 years the malady has been taking its toll in Scotland and in recent years it spread to Northern England and even the Midlands. Professor William C. Miller, first director of the new Equine Research Station established by the Veterinary Educational Trust at Newmarket, is making a study of "grass disease" one of his first projects and has asked for expert help.

Reeve Sheppard took the child into his home in 1944 as a ward of the Children's Aid Society and planned to adopt her later. Shirley formerly lived in Melancthon township, near Shelburne, Ont.

Standard Is High

But Canadian Bacon For British Market Should Be Identified

There is no reason why Canada cannot compete successfully with Denmark in the British bacon market. Agriculture Minister D. L. Campbell of Manitoba told the Manitoba Swine Breeders' association.

Reporting on a visit to Britain, Mr. Campbell said Canadian bacon lacked proper identification and consequently a lot of British people thought an improvement in quality was needed. However, United Kingdom experts were "very satisfied" with the high standards maintained during the war.

The minister urged steps be taken to identify Canadian's bacon exports and to distinguish it from inferior brands of other countries.

EFFECT DOUBLE CURE

British Physicians Transfer Glands And Beats Addison's Disease

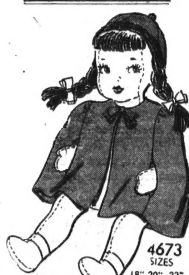

LONDON—A delicate gland-grafting operation apparently has cured a 33-year-old woman of dread Addison's disease and simultaneously brought health to another woman from whom the grafted gland was taken, the authoritative British Medical Journal reported.

The first patient suffered from inadequate supply of secretion from the suprarenal gland and had been kept alive by large salt dosages. Physicians found another woman, 21, suffering from an over-active suprarenal gland. The over-active gland in less than an hour was grafted successfully to the blood vessels of the other's abdominal wall.

Three weeks later the victim of Addison's disease left the hospital and had only one brief bit of trouble during the early period of convalescence. Now, 1½ years later, she is apparently cured. The patient from which the gland was removed also made a "good recovery."

Addison's disease is a chronic ailment, usually fatal, caused by insufficient secretion of adrenalin from the suprarenal gland. Its symptoms include anemia.

SMILE AWHILE

One of the guests turned to a man by his side to criticize the singing of a woman who was trying to entertain them.

"What a terrible voice! Do you know who she is?"

"Yes," was the answer. "She's my wife."

"Oh, I beg your pardon. Of course, it isn't her voice, really. It's the stuff she has to sing. I wonder who wrote that awful song?"

"I did," was the answer.

Mrs. Dumblly was waiting to be served in the host shop. Presently a girl assistant approached her.

"What size shoe do you wear, madam?" she inquired.

"Well," said Mrs. Dumblly, "I bought size four last time."

The girl looked puzzled.

"Yes, madam, I remember," she replied; "but you're buying this pair for yourself, aren't you?"

In the lounge of a large hotel much patronized by black market merchants, two doctors were comparing notes. One remarked to the other: "I've got a great many cases of hysteria."

A man leaned across and said: "Till take the lot, mister."

It was the fog end of a rather dull evening in the parlor. After a long silence he said: "I wish I had money. I'd travel."

She looked at him a moment and then reached for her handbag. "How much do you need?" she inquired.

The new Land Girl was doing her best, but she was evidently finding everything on the farm very strange.

Having had an incubator explained to her, and been asked if she fully understood it, she put her head on one side and, with a puzzled look, replied:

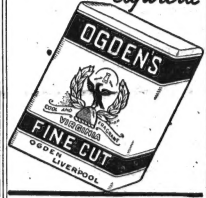

"Yes, but where does the hen sit?"

She (reading sign over box of office): "Oh, Phil! It says 'Entire Balcony, 25c.'"

Phil: "Let's get it so we can be all alone." 2697

SALT FOR HOGS

Experimental Evidence Shows That It Is Valuable Item

There is an old wives' tale that salt is poisonous to hogs. All the experimental evidence shows that, properly included in the ration, it is a very valuable item. A note from the Drovers' Daily Journal is interesting in this connection.

"Last year at Swine Day, held annually at Purdue University, C. M. Vestal, in charge of hog feeding tests, reported that a penny's worth of salt saved 287 pounds of feed valued at $6.37. Hogs without salt gained only as fast as those receiving it free-choice with their grain and supplement ration. During the 85-day test 81 pounds of extra gain was produced for each pound of salt consumed, $13 worth, based on the local price of hogs. The test was made with 90 lb. hogs.

"At this year's Swine Day Mr. Vestal reported on another test. He found that pigs receiving salt free-choice with their corn and supplement ration gained 75 per cent. faster than those without salt. The salted pigs had an average gain of 14 pounds, while the others gained only 48 pounds a head. For each pound of salt consumed there were 29 extra pounds of gain. This alone gave the salt a high value in the ration. Besides the extra gain there was a saving of $7.12 in the feed cost of 100 pounds of gain. This alone gave the salt a high value in the ration. This saving amounted to $4.75 for each pound of salt fed."

Scientists Now Have Gadget To Take Temperature of Grasshopper

Scientists have added a new accomplishment to their list—they now can take the body temperature of a grasshopper.

General Electric research laboratory engineers reported they had devised a tiny "grasshopper thermometer" at the request of two Montana state college entomologists.

The professors needed the device in their study of the control and extermination of the insects which annually destroy millions of dollars worth of crops.

THERE'S A REASON

James Nelson, editor of the Weekly Journal, Cuba, Ill., tells his subscribers his paper is not up to standard, and explains the reasons. Because of the help shortage, Nelson said, he must "set the ads, the news, the press, do job printing, wrap, mail and deliver the papers and sleep a little every other night."

OUR COMPLETE
SHORT STORY—ABSENT-MINDED
GEORGE

By M. J. COLLINS

Copyright.

Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate

To say that old George was absent-minded was to put it mildly, he could forget or mislay more things in ten minutes than an ordinary man could in a week.

He operated the corner grocery store and the only reason he made money was because he had a wife with her head in the right place. The most noticeable thing in the store was a large old-fashioned safe that sat solidly opposite the door. George would forget it when he opened his store more than twenty years ago.

This morning one of his sister-in-law's children had met with an accident and George's wife had to go and help straighten out a very upset household.

"Now, don't go woolgathering!" she warned as she was leaving. "I haven't the slightest idea how long I'll be away but I'll phone and let you know how things are."

Business went on without a hitch and George was well pleased with himself, no muddling for him. Most of his business was on a credit system and this was the day his customers generally cleared up their accounts.

At closing time he had almost a thousand dollars to look up. Just before he was ready to leave his wife phoned. The accident wasn't as serious as first supposed and she would be home for supper. A short time later George drove home.

When he did George heard all the details. His wife had been taken up with what had happened that she forgot to ask how things had gone at the store.

This was the maid's night off and he helped with the dishes.

"How much money did we take in today? Did old man Palmy clear up his account?" She asked as he dried the last dish.

"Yes, yes he did. We took in almost a thousand dollars, and I put it away safely." He informed her with some pride.

"Are you positive of that, dear?" She asked pertly.

"Yes, looked tight and safe," he assured her. He put the dish down on the rack behind the stove to dry. "I'm going to look over the paper and then go to bed. Bertha, I had a hard day at the store." He stifled a yawn.

"Why not take it upstairs and read in bed?" She suggested. "It would be much more restful."

"I think I will. It sounds like a good idea."

The paper is in the magazine rack. I'll be up in a few minutes. I think I'll bring my knitting."

George awakened with a start. He shook his head trying to get his thoughts straightened out. Evidently he'd drifted off to sleep while reading. The lights were out and the gentle sound of Bertha's breathing came from the other bed.

The dream! That's what had awakened him. Someone had broken into the store and stolen the safe. Taken it clean away. He chuckled, not much danger of that, it weighed 700 lbs. Stretching out his full length he relaxed and then rolled over on his side to go to sleep. The money! Now he remembered, when Bertha phoned he'd forgotten it and left it sitting on the counter in the cigar box. If he wasn't the added heeded... Throwing aside the covers, he sat on the side of the bed. No sense in awakening Bertha.

"What's the matter, dear?" She was already awake. "I heard you twisting and turning and I wondered if you were sick." She switched on the bed lamp.

"When you phoned I forgot to put the money away." He told her ruefully.

"Georgel!" She exclaimed with exasperation. "Will you ever learn! What are you going to do now?"

"I'm going down to the store and put it away." While he dressed he told her about the dream. Bertha laughed when she heard of it.

"Don't worry," she assured him, "you'll find it there in the very same spot."

In about half an hour he returned.

"Everything all right, dear?" Bertha asked sleepily when she heard him.

"Yes, I did leave the money sitting on the counter but it's safely locked up now. Guess I'll never learn to remember anything," George grumbled as he rolled into bed.

Next morning they were at the store bright and early.

"George, you didn't lock the door!" Bertha cried with vexation. "You go from bed to worse." Opening the door she walked in while George was still fumbling for his keys.

"I locked it, I'm positive." He expostulated, but he had only Bertha's angry back to talk to. When he closed the door he immediately had a premonition that there was something amiss. Looking at the end of the store he realized that it was, there was only an empty space where the safe had always stood.

"Oh, mighosh, Bertha!" George jumped up and down with excitement, waving his arms and shouting. "It's gone, our safe, it's gone."

"Heavens to Betsy!" Bertha cried. "The police, I'll phone the police." And she rushed to the phone.

"What do you know," George shook his head incredulously, after all these years.

"Could you give me a list of the contents?" the detective requested. "I'll help us in our work."

"List!" George looked sheepish, "ell, to tell the truth when I bought the safe twenty years ago I forgot the combination, and the old fellow that sold it to me moved away and I never did get around to getting it. We kept it just for show, officer. All ways keep our money in a strong box under the counter."

FLAVOR IS BETTER

The Agriculture Department Consumer Section home economist says the best flavored sauce is made without peeling the apples, and besides it is a time saver. Wash apples, quarter them and discard any decayed portions. Core until soft in a covered pan, adding just enough water to prevent burning, and press through a strainer. Sweeten as desired.

Says Rheumatic Pain
Runs in her FamilyBut Safeguards Health
With Kruschen

Many people seem to think, because a complaint runs in the family, that there is little they can do about it. On the contrary, all the more reason for taking steps to avoid it. Especially if that complaint is rheumatic pain. Read how one woman keeps free from it—

"Rheumatic pain runs in my family. My father said, 'For rheumatic pain, I have been taking Kruschen Salts, off and on, for about seven years, a little morning dose, in my first cup of tea. Kruschen is a great help in keeping rheumatic pain out of my shoulders. My greatest fear is rheumatic pain. I am 57 and can do a day's work with anyone. I would not be without Kruschen.'"

The whole secret of Kruschen is in its action upon the organs of elimination. Kruschen helps these organs to remove from the body the acid deposits which give rise to rheumatic pain. So try the morning dose of Kruschen for the next morning dose. For rheumatic pain, take half to one teaspoonful in hot water first thing in the morning. Two sizes: 25c and 50c at your drug store.

CANADIAN PUREBRED CATTLE

Canadian dairy cattle enjoy a high reputation abroad. This is on account of their high producing qualities, their ability to withstand a wide variety of conditions to a good age and to the healthy climate in which they are bred. Also they are accustomed to extremes of temperature. More than 17,000 head of purebred dairy cattle with an aggregate value of $11,612,955 were exported from Canada to 23 countries last year. Of these, 24,071, valued at $5,161,361, were dairy cattle. During the first five months of the current year an additional 9,801 purebred cattle and 24,847 dairy cattle were exported. Some indication of the way in which Canada has risen to prominence as a producer of breeding stock is found in statistics of exports of purebred cattle for the year 1930 having amounted then only to 3,017, valued at $602,689, while shipments of dairy cattle to other countries 16 years ago totalled 9,257, valued at $890,687.

LISSON IS GIVEN AIR COMMAND HERE

Harold Lisson, D.F.C., has returned to Edmonton to assume new duties in the R.C.A.F. He will retain his rank with the famous Mosquito intruder unit by taking over as officer commanding the permanent force detachment of the recently-formed City of Edmonton 418 Auxiliary squadron.

Flt. Lt. Lisson reached Edmonton during the week-end and took over his new duties Monday. He succeeded Flt. Lt. Don Laubman, D.F.C. and Bar. Flt. Lt. Lisson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. ONLY 7 PER CENT LAND CULTIVATED

In its world survey with reference to the development and use of land, the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations (FAO) says that in some parts of the world, the area of cultivated land is less than one-half acre per head of population and this is decreasing as population rises. At present only about 7 per cent of the land surface of the globe is cultivated. Much of the rest is unfit for cultivation by present methods, but there are large areas that could be opened up if capital were available for their development by modern technical methods, including, in many cases, irrigation and drainage. Extensive territories might be devoted to farming if the deadly pests such as the malaria carrying mosquito and the tsetse fly were exterminated by well-organized, large-scale campaigns.

But the opening of new land is only a part of the problem of increasing land resources. Equally important is the reclamation of land, which, once fertile, has been rendered barren by human misuse, and the conservation of land now deteriorating. Every country has its own specific problems in increasing and safe-guarding land resources, and they must be attacked in different ways.

These Devices Save Farm Labour

Among the farm labour saving devices assembled or invented by the Engineering Section, Field Husbandry Division, Dominion Experimental Farms Service, are many items of auxiliary utility, quite apart from the plans and specifications for heavier farm machinery. For example, full information with detailed plans and specifications may be obtained for making necessary articles for poultry, such as, a range water unit, self-waterer, feed trough, water fountain, mash feeder, feed mixer, range shelter, and a roost and pit.

For sheep there are single and double feeders and for hogs there are a hog breeding crate, loading chute, feeding troughs for all sizes of pigs, self-feeder, pig creep, weighing crate, green feed rack, alfalfa feed rack, hog feeding platform, and farrowing pen. Among miscellaneous articles are a harrow dumping device, a breeding stall and bull pen for cattle, feed alley cart, home made anvil, wagon jack, fly trap, hag holder, seed treater, potato cutter, potato sorter, handy farmyard cart, and a low slung wagon. As in the case with heavier farm trucks, tractors, and other machinery full information with plans and specifications may be obtained by writing to, or visiting if convenient, the Engineering Section, Field Husbandry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.
